DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 2, 7-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Park (2004/0100578).

Regarding claim 1, Park shows a display (47), and a scaler (46-3). The scaler adjusts the size of a region of the received video signal according to a received region information signal and the size of the sub-picture size. The region being adjusted can be enlarged to a predetermined size according to the region information signal.

Regarding claim 2, see paragraph 0028.

Regarding claim 7, see A/D converter 46-1.

Regarding claim 8, a video signal-selecting unit (52, 53), a buffer (46-2), and a scaler (46-3). The buffer is ordered when the user selects the PIP operation.

Regarding claim 9, see paragraph 0033, lines 8-12.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Park (2004/0100578).

Regarding claim 12, Park does not specify the OSD unit as claimed. In any event, using OSD means for carrying out an interactive task is well known in the art such as in a television receiver basic setup operation, and hence, the Examiner takes Official Notice. The OSD means enables the user to control the television receiver via the screen without further complicate the number of functions on the remote control. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to include a OSD means into Park to perform the well known functions as claimed.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 3-6, 10, 11, and 13-14 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Ezaki (5,402,187) shows an aspect ratio code transmitter.

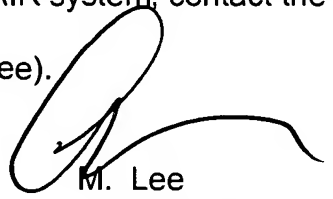

Ezaki (5,617,147) shows an aspect ratio position ID signal transmitter.

Takahashi et al. (5,871,439) shows a magnification ratio transmitter.
